

Material related to the Queen's Own Buffs

At the University of Kent Special Collections and Archives

- Barker Oral History Tapes collection: tapes chiefly made in the late 1960s to retain memories of life in Kent and elsewhere before WWI by UKC Economic History Department (with some made by local schools)
- The Hendrie Collection: comprises research papers, notes, and correspondence collected by Andrew Hendrie who completed his PhD 'Coastal Command 1939-1945: the Cinderella Service' at the University of Kent in 2004 and later published this as a book
- Lloyd George Collection: materials from the private library of the former Prime Minister David Lloyd George
- Modern First Editions and Modern Poetry Collections: published prose, poetry and diaries
- The Ronald A. Baldwin Collection: comprises material related to the history of Kent, covering subjects such as history, literature, religion
- The Winstanley Oral History Collection: interviews with over 160 people in Kent (mainly east Kent), recorded between 1974 and 1976

E-Resources

The Templeman Library provides access to the following electronic resources on war and propaganda which have relevance to The Queen's Own Buffs, The Royal Kent Regiment Collection:

- Artemis Primary Sources (from Gale): now Gale Primary Sources
- First World War Portal
- Service Newspapers of World War Two
- Trench Journals and Unit Magazines of the First World War

The following are freely available resources:

- First World War Digital Poetry Archive
- Screenonline: from the British Film Institute (BFI): see the section under 'Film' – 'Genres and themes' – 'War' for material on war and cinema
- World War One Document Archive

Elsewhere in Kent

- The Beaney House of Art and Knowledge: currently holds some material which is on loan from the National Army Museum. You can find the collections in the 'Explorers and Collectors' gallery
- Gateways to the First World War: a centre for public engagement with the First World War centenary managed by the University of Kent in partnership with the Universities of Essex, Portsmouth and Leeds. As well as running a number of events it provides resources useful to researching the First World War
- The Imperial War Museum: holds material relating to the Buffs, the East Kent Regiment and the Queen's Own, the Royal West Kent Regiment. Search the collections on the Imperial War Museum website
- The Kent History and Library Centre: holds the archives of the Queen's Own, the Royal West Kent Regiment and the official papers of Sir Jeffery Amherst at the centre contain papers relating to the Buffs. They also host a First World War timeline for Kent and Medway
- Maidstone Museum: home to the Queen's Own, Royal West Kent Regimental Museum
- Medway Archives
- The National Army Museum: home to The Buffs, East Kent Regiment regimental collection which can be searched using the Online Collection 'advanced search' facility. Some of this Collection is currently on loan to The Beaney House of Art and Knowledge in Canterbury
- National Trust Collections
- The Queen's & PWRR Regiment Museum: the official museum for the Princess of Wales's Royal Regiment and The Queen's Regiment
- The Royal Engineers Museum: focus on Corps of Royal Engineers