Frequently Asked Questions

How does it work?

Flex Catering Package holders have a meal allocation to the value of £10 each day. This is administered automatically to your KentOne card or fob each day in two £5 tokens.

You can either put the full £10 allowance towards one substantial meal, or use the two £5 tokens separately and have two smaller meals instead. If you choose to have two smaller meals, you must make sure that the cost of the first meal does not exceed £5. This will leave the other £5 token remaining on your card/fob to use later that day.

If you spend over £5 on your first meal, it will eat into the other £5 token and will be classed as used, meaning you won't have any allowance left for that day. However; you can speak to staff at the till and pay the difference yourself; for example, if your first meal costs £5.25, you can use one £5 token and pay the 25p in cash. This would leave your second £5 token untouched for later use.

What type of food do you serve?

There really is something for everyone! You can go to any outlet in this booklet and order any dish from the menu, it really is that flexible! Our menus are online at www.kent.ac.uk/catering

Do you cater for special dietary requirements?

Allergen information is available for every dish on all menus. We cater for special diets and are happy to discuss any requirements you have. Please talk to our supervisors or senior chefs in our outlets or email us at catering@kent.ac.uk

I didn't use my allowance today, can I use it tomorrow?

No, you cannot carry your allowance over to the next day or be issued a refund for it.
