INTERNATIONAL STUDENT GUIDE 2024

WE STAND FOR AMBITION.

We're a community that works together. Vibrant, creative and inclusive, we share ideas and experiences, inspiring each other to do outstanding things. Wherever you come from, you'll feel welcome – we'll embrace your culture as you embrace ours. Together, we'll make our world a better place.

Here's how.

You're at the heart of everything we do: we provide a world-class education and the support you need to reach your potential.

We listen to your ideas: advising you on careers that will reward your ambition.

Everyone wants to make a difference – we are: through research that addresses key global challenges, such as cyber security, migration and sustainability; by embedding the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) into everything we do and by being a Right to Food university.

We believe in the potential of everyone involved in Kent to make a difference.

Make your ambition count with us.

WHY KENT?

University is a time to explore who you are and Kent is a safe place to do that. We're an international community that celebrates individuality and champions equality. Studying in another country is a big step; we'll support you from application to graduation, helping you to discover new interests and gain the skills to reach your goals.

We're a top 40 university

In the QS world rankings we are ranked in the top 40 in the UK, but our league table rankings aren't all that define us at Kent.

We are a community that pushes boundaries, that is ambitious, innovative and intent on making a positive difference to people's lives – including yours.

We've got amazing locations

Our UK campuses in Canterbury and Medway are close to Kent's seaside towns and 'garden of England' countryside. The county is also home to lots of historic sites, castles, cathedrals and the iconic white cliffs of Dover. And you're just an hour from London.

We also have a centre in Paris, where we run postgraduate courses in the arts, taking advantage of all that's on offer in this city of culture.

Friendly, fun and fabulous

Our campuses are diverse and welcoming. With more than 250 student-led societies, including lots focusing on national cultures, and great sports facilities, you won't be short of things to do. Whether you're interested in sustainability, music, theatre or politics, you'll find your communities at Kent.

Home from home

Living in University accommodation is a great way to make friends. We offer a range of options. Find out how to guarantee your place on p16.

We're innovative and inspiring

Our outstanding results in the Research Excellence Framework 2021 mean that you'll learn from leading thinkers whose work has a positive impact on the world. As their research informs their teaching, you'll be learning at the cutting-edge of your subject.

We're here for you

From the moment you step onto campus, we work hard to make sure that your university experience is happy and fulfilling. Our experienced and friendly professionals offer:

- academic support
- wellbeing help
- careers advice
- financial guidance.

The students' union is also on hand to help you make the most of life at Kent.

We want the best for you

Whatever your ambitions are, they're never too bold for Kent; we've helped our students achieve some amazing things. Our courses are designed to ensure you gain career-related skills, while our Careers and Employability Service can help with your future plans, from CV guidance to connecting you with employers at over 600 careers events every year.

THINK DIFFERENTLY.

New way of learning

Learning in a new culture could be daunting but at Kent it's not, it's exciting! That's because you'll have the support you need to excel.

We aim for engaging, challenging, encouraging – a learning environment where your voice is heard. Outstanding academics work with you, guiding you towards new ideas in your field. You'll be inspired, challenged and supported as your knowledge grows.

As well as providing outstanding teaching, our courses are designed to give you options while at university and after you graduate. You may be able to study different subject areas, giving you a fresh perspective. Some courses offer field trips, others invite practitioners in to give you an insight into professional life. You'll also have access to first-class academic facilities that bring your subject to life.

Some courses offer you the chance to spend time working in industry. It's a great opportunity to gain workplace experience and will give you a head start when applying for jobs when you graduate.

Or, if life in the UK gives you a taste for exploring, you could spend time studying or conducting research abroad in Europe, the Americas, Asia, Africa or Australia.

Whatever degree you choose and however you like to learn, we're beside you as you explore, experiment and start to map your future.

Supporting you

To achieve your best in your studies, you need to feel comfortable in your environment. Our support will help you get the most out of your time and not worry about the small (or the big) things.

- 1 The Student Learning Advisory Service helps with specific study advice. With videos online, workshops and personal appointments (online or face-to-face), it's easy to take advantage of what's on offer.
- 2 You'll have an Academic Adviser throughout your time at Kent.
- 3 You may be able to take modules as part of your degree to improve your English language and enhance intercultural awareness. There are also free extra-curricular English language and academic skills modules, which run alongside your degree.
- 4 Kent's Wellbeing team can help if you have a disability or need support with your emotional or mental health.
- 5 Join our student-led international wellbeing group: meet other international students, share stories, take trips together and support each other.
- 6 Look out for societies related to your subject. They're a chance to meet students from other year groups for tips on academic life, study spots, preparing for presentations.

CANTERBURY

Canterbury is a fascinating place to live. Historic with medieval alleyways, cobbled streets and a world-famous cathedral. Contemporary with cafés, pubs, rooftop bars, independent shops, restaurants, a theatre and cinema.

Our library is open 24/7 with study spaces to suit everyone

Excellent facilities support your studies

Our green and beautiful land – and the great view

OUR CAMPUS

Our Canterbury campus provides superb facilities to support your studies. There are also cafés, bars, a cinema, a theatre, bookshop, convenience store, even a nightclub, and plenty of green spaces, woods and fields where you can walk, cycle or just relax.

We asked student Maria-Lore Haag for her 'best of' list.

Best place to study

On-campus for focused study it's the Library's silent area; if I need support, my friends and I book a study room. Off-campus, I head to the Chocolate Café in Canterbury. The view of the cathedral inspires me!

Best place to relax

On Eliot slopes you can see the city but nature's all around you; it has a very calming energy. Off-campus I love Dane John Gardens bordered by the old city walls.

Best place to eat?

Campus: Origins' veggie burger; Hut 8's wraps; Dolche Vita's curry. Canterbury: Posillipo, great Italian food.

Best student hack?

Always carry your student ID; you'll get lots of discounts!

Key to university happiness?

A good community of friends and a steady routine.

MEDWAY

Medway is a great place to study with fantastic transport links and lots to do in the local towns of Rochester and Chatham. Explore the area's history, relax in the cafés and bars, the cinema or theatre. For green space, visit a countryside park or take a riverside walk.

Our Medway campus is small and friendly, which makes it easy to get to know people. You'll soon feel part of our close-knit, diverse community. Kent shares the campus with two other universities and our students love the opportunity this brings to meet people with a wide range of interests and ambitions. You'll also meet lots of local students who can help you to get to know the area.

On campus, you're surrounded by historic buildings, renovated for 21st-century study with industry-standard facilities. We also have facilities on the Dockyard, close to campus – the site is often used as film set because of its dramatic setting, so definitely worth a visit.

There is also a restaurant, cafés and our student Hub where you can relax with friends and in the evening enjoy themed events or maybe join in on Karaoke night.

A student view

We asked Lupe, who came from Argentina to study in Medway, to recommend her favourite places.

Best place to study

The Drill Hall Library quiet study space. It is very calming and seeing so many other people working super hard motivates me.

Best place to relax

The pier in Pier Quays. You can watch the boats, chill on a bench and take in some fresh air. Indoors, the social space in the Rochester Building is a good option.

Best place to eat

Taco Bell in Pier 5! I would highly recommend getting a crunchwrap supreme and the cinnamon twists.

Hidden gem

The Great Lines Heritage park. Walk to the Chatham Naval Memorial, take a seat and enjoy the amazing view.

PARIS

There is no better place to study the arts than Paris. A cultural centre for centuries, it is still a hub of contemporary creativity.

Paris School of Arts and Culture

We offer courses in creative writing, art history, film, and history. Regular seminars and talks in collaboration with partners including Columbia University Global Centers, University of London Institute in Paris and the American University of Paris help to integrate you into the student community in Paris.

Based in historic Montparnasse, you are taught in English by academics who bring theory to life in guided trips around the city. Through your studies you become familiar with the city's libraries, museums, archives and galleries; you'll have all you need to excel.

Stimulating and easy to navigate, Paris is the perfect city for 'urban explorers'.

We asked student Seb Jones to share some of his discoveries.

Best place to study

The library at Reed Hall, the American Library and the Bibliothèque nationale all have excellent facilities if you require quiet places and bookcases.

Hidden gem

The open mic nights and writing workshops from Paris Lit Up. Run by Paris alum Leah Soeiro and her partner Ed Bell, this is the best place to be on any Thursday evening for performances from well-known and undiscovered talents. Poetry and music all supported by a welcoming community.

Best day trip

Make use of the excellent rail network and head to La Rochelle; it's only three hours away by train. If castles don't interest you perhaps try the northern coast. Eat fish soup and gaze at a desolate stretch of grey ocean (fun!). Closer to home are the gardens at Giverny or Versailles.

SETTLING IN.

📍 Top tips

- 1 Throw yourself into uni life, there's lots to get involved in.
- 2 Get to know Canterbury. It's a really pretty place and worth exploring. Look out for my favourite places: Lady Luck and Tortilla.
- 3 If you're like me, you'll miss your favourite foods. You could try restaurants that specialise in your home cuisine – or learn to cook your favourite dishes!

Katya is studying Forensic Psychology. She came to Kent from India and as she nears the end of her first year, we asked her to think back to her first few weeks at Kent, how it felt to be a new student and how long it took her to feel at home.

Arriving

Coming to a new country, a new continent, a new culture was definitely daunting! But meeting other people from India and from Indian communities helped the transition to Kent to go smoothly.

I live in on-campus university accommodation in a house with five other students, a couple of whom are also international students. I really like the house, the bedrooms are huge!

The first thing I did when I got to my room was to open my suitcases, but then I didn't unpack properly for about a month and had clothes lying everywhere. My friends would come in and then just walk out again – not unpacking isn't something I'd recommend!

Something I would advise you to do though is to use Google maps in your first few days to help you find your way around campus. It was a life saver for me. Also, don't forget to bring your memories to Kent – I have pictures of my friends in my room and some other bits and pieces from home.

Your first week

There's lots to take in your first week on campus but make sure you get along to the Welcome Fair. The student societies all have stands there. Societies are a great way to get involved in campus life and to meet people; a lot of my friends are people I've met in societies. There are lots of national societies on campus too where you can meet other students from your country.

The Welcome Fair is also a good time to look out for volunteering and internship opportunities. I met people from Porchlight, which is a homelessness charity in Canterbury, and am now volunteering with them. I really enjoy it and have met some great people there.

Whatever course you're doing, there will also be some sessions to help you settle in and meet your coursemates. Then, once you have your timetable, you'll start to get into a routine and everything becomes more familiar.

Your first month

I think it takes about a month to settle in to your new home and your studies. You might find the teaching here is different from what you're used to. Adjusting to a new system is an ongoing thing, so don't worry if, after a few weeks, you're still finding it strange, you'll get used to it in your own time.

By now, you'll also have found your favourite spots on campus! For me, Mungo's is the best place to eat and I love K-Bar, there are parties on Thursdays and I always try to get along to those.

One other thing I wanted to mention is homesickness. You're bound to feel homesick at some point and when I do, I call my friends back home to get all the news.

I'm having a great time at Kent and really enjoying my course. One of the things I love about being here is how open and diverse the campus is. I feel so welcome and safe here; I feel I belong and that's a wonderful feeling. I know there will be ups and downs here, just as there are at home, but I feel I'm in the right place to do well in my studies and enjoy student life.

GET INVOLVED

YOUR LIFE AT KENT

Student life at Kent is as busy as you want it to be. You can take part in sports, join societies, enjoy nights out, or nights in, with friends. You'll meet people from all over the world, making friends for life. Whatever you do, it'll be a time you'll always remember.

Make music Perform in the fantastic Colyer-Fergusson Building,

Celebrate Diwali or Holi, Thanksgiving or the Chinese New Year. Look out for WorldFest, our annual celebration of our international community.

Be sustainable Get involved in environmental projects and join our community of eco-ambassadors.

Outstanding sports facilities
Opportunities for all levels and free sports centre membership for new students living on campus.

GET SOCIAL.

You've come a long way but that doesn't mean you won't find a little bit of home at Kent! There are more than 40 student-run societies focusing on particular cultures; if yours isn't represented you could explore someone else's, or start your own society and showcase your culture.

When Jiwei Pei arrived at Kent, it was the first time he'd been in the UK and the first time he'd been so far away from his home in China. Joining the Chinese Society made a real difference to his life at Kent. 'It's been great.

I've made a lot of friends, which is good for me as I'm a huge football fan and now I have plenty of people to play with! When the Society held a big Chinese New Year party, I was one of the hosts. It was a wonderful experience, everyone was very happy, dancing and singing. It's one of the highlights of my time at Kent.

I definitely recommend joining a society and not just your own country's. You'll meet people from all over the world, it's fascinating to listen to their stories and learn about life in other countries. People are very welcoming and you'll make friends by getting involved in campus life. When people say I've changed, I say, "Of course I have, I'm happier here because I have more friends!"

BECOMING

Scholarships offer financial support to individuals whose talents make them stand out from the crowd.

Passionate about environmental law, Eunice Njau wants to be 'a force to reckon with' in the field and to 'teach others to use the law to shape their world for the better'. To achieve her ambition, Eunice decided to take Kent's Master's in Law (LLM) International Environmental Law pathway, choosing to leave Kenya to study at Kent because of its excellent reputation.

Having decided on her Master's, Eunice started looking at funding sources, choosing to apply for a Chevening Scholarship: 'Studying for a Master's in a foreign country is an enormous financial investment it would have taken me a lifetime to save for. Being chosen by Chevening out of thousands of other applicants made the prospect less daunting.'

With financial support secured Eunice began her course, settling in to life at Kent. Impressed by the teaching, she also enjoyed the small group study that takes place in seminars: 'The students I shared classes with ended up being close friends, so it was easy to plan activities together.' Studying hard, Eunice also took Zumba classes, played badminton and marvelled at the English weather, 'fragile sunshine' and making snowballs! If you're wondering if Kent is for you, Eunice's advice is clear: 'Kent will be one of the highlights of your life, so enjoy it!'

On completion of her Master's, Eunice knows she will have a platform to practise law globally, but also hopes to apply her skills in Kenya and contribute to the transformation of Africa.
