CASE STUDY: PEARL OKUNGBOWA HAS SECURED A GRADUATE ROLE AND WILL BE WORKING AS A MEDICAL WRITER WITH ASHFIELD MEDICAL COMMUNICATIONS IN LONDON. PEARL GRADUATED FROM UNIVERSITY OF KENT IN 2022 WITH A FIRST-CLASS HONOURS DEGREE IN BIOMEDICAL SCIENCES, GENERAL.

Original Status: At the start of the support, Pearl was not working or studying. Pearl sought support to help her to secure her dream graduate role as a Medical Writer.

Support Provided: Support was initially provided for a CV review with an experienced career coach. Guidance was also given about where to search for roles and how to make speculative applications. As Pearl was already progressing to the latter stages of the recruitment process, coaching focused on preparing for assessment centres and interviews to build Pearl's confidence in order to secure a fulfilling role.

What Pearl Found Most Valuable: "The coaching felt catered to you and the flexibility of the timings was appreciated."

How the Support Helped Pearl with Confidence: "I felt very confident following the support especially going into my interview, having received detailed feedback and assurance."

What Pearl Said About the Support: "Andy was a great Gradcore support coach. It was a great incentive for University of Kent to offer this extra service on top of their own services. This really went the extra mile."
