NOAH GARRIOCK GRADUATED FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF KENT IN 2022 AND HAS SECURED A ROLE ON THE CIVIL SERVICE FAST STREAM COMMERCIAL GRADUATE PROGRAMME

Original Status: When joining our career coaching support, Noah was not currently working or studying but had identified an ambition to join a graduate scheme as his next step. Noah reported that he was not confident at all when submitting applications.

Support Provided: Noah received support from his coach throughout each stage of the graduate scheme recruitment process. From an initial CV review to a mock interview, to preparation for an assessment centre all to help ensure confidence and progress through a competitive, lengthy recruitment.

What Noah Found Most Valuable: Noah told us that he valued the opportunity to share his thoughts and receive specific advice from his coach who had “great experience in the professional sector and on applying for jobs”. Moreover, Noah also felt “valued” having received this support post-graduation.

How the Support Helped Noah with his Confidence: The coaching Noah received significantly improved his confidence throughout the civil service application and recruitment process. Noah also shared that his confidence in general has grown in applying for roles.

What Noah Said About the Support: Noah shared that he recognised the value of the guidance he was receiving from his coach, and felt he needed to take advantage of the support to secure his place on a graduate scheme.
