Why will I be asked to evidence my right to work in the UK?

As an employer, the University has a duty to prevent illegal working by conducting right to work document checks for all perspective staff.

We are required to verify that you have the right to work in the UK and keep copies of documentation.

Which documents are acceptable?

List A and List B (see below) detail the documentation which can be accepted by employers to evidence a person's right to work in the UK. These lists are maintained by the Home Office.

To ensure you have the correct documentation please carefully read List A and List B.

Please note; if you have a digital e-Visa or if you are an EU national who has been granted Settled Status, an online right to work check will be conducted instead of a manual check. If you need an online right to work check, please contact your employing Department/Division before your first day as this will need to be undertaken in advance.

Can you accept an expired passport?

We can only accept expired UK and Irish passports.

Documents provided by all other nationals must be current.

If you have a visa sticker (vignette) in your passport, this must be held in your current passport. If the visa is held in an expired passport you will be required to apply for a digital e-Visa before commencing employment.

What will happen if I do not have a document from List A or List B?

It is essential that you hold the correct current documentation. If you are unable to produce a document listed, work cannot be offered.

If you believe you may not hold the correct documentation, please contact peopleserviceshr@kent.ac.uk as soon as possible.
