

University of Kent Minerva Voices

For the Beauty of the Earth

Hannah Tudor piano

Charlotte Farmer, Océanne Ryckembeusch-Todd, Hunter Herbert flutes

Ramya Madduri recorder

Dan Harding conductor

This We Know	Sarah Quartel
The Bird's Lullaby	Sarah Quartel
Da Pacem Dominem	Charles Gounod
Image	Eugene Bozza
The Silver Swan	Oliver Tarney
Songbird	Sarah Quartel
Sea Echo	Sally Adams
The Seal Lullaby	Eric Whitacre
For the Beauty of the Earth	John Rutter

Welcome to this afternoon's concert here in the marvellous church of St Mildred's; we are delighted to be here, and to present a programme celebrating the natural world with our upper-voices chamber choir, and instrumentalists, as part of our celebrations for the University's 60th year. Through joyous choral music and pieces for solo flute our programme reflects the colours of nature, closing with Rutter's 'joyful hymn of praise,'

There will be a retiring collection in support of St Mildred's Church.

Thanks to Tessa Taylor here at St Mildred's and Elliot Huxtable for their support in making today's concert happen.

This afternoon's performers are from the Music department at the University of Kent, a vibrant extra-curricular programme based in the award-winning Colyer-Fergusson Building bringing together students and staff from across the university, as well as alumni and members of the local community.